

ELAINE CHAO

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, I supported Elaine Chao's nomination to be Secretary of Labor. I am confident that her experience and intellect will serve her well as she considers issues relating to our Nation's workforce and workplaces.

Elaine's career exemplifies her dedication to public service and commitment to leadership. Elaine served as deputy transportation secretary under former President Bush and later became director of the Peace Corps in 1991. She headed United Way of America between 1992 and 1996, and she currently serves as a Heritage Foundation fellow. Additionally, many of us in this body also know her as the distinguished wife of our colleague, Senator MITCH MCCONNELL.

As a member of the new Administration, I hope that Elaine will be able to build coalitions and work effectively with groups holding a wide range of political views. These skills will be essential as we consider many of the important labor-related issues during the beginning of the 21st Century.

GOVERNOR WHITMAN

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. President, I supported the nomination of New Jersey Governor Christie Whitman to serve as Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

As one of the organizers of the first Earth Day more than 30 years ago, I understand the importance of protecting and improving our Nation's environment. The Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Safe Drinking Water Act, and other major environmental statutes have helped this Nation significantly improve our air and water quality. We have made significant progress over the past three decades, and North Dakota has done well to maintain its clean environment. However, our Nation still has too many areas that have dirty air and unclean water. Too many of our citizens develop diseases as a result of pollution in our environment. We need to continue the progress of the past three decades without sacrificing the tremendous economic growth of the past eight years.

I met with Governor Whitman in my office last week to discuss some of the differences between rural western States and more urban, industrialized eastern States. I emphasized the need to develop different solutions to environmental problems in different areas, and also indicated my support for incentive-based approaches to improving our environment. I have been pleased to hear some of Governor Whitman's preliminary statements on that subject. However, I also believe we cannot abandon enforcement efforts to improve compliance with our Nation's environmental laws. Governor Whitman will have to strike an appropriate balance between the two. It will be a difficult task, but after meeting with her and reviewing her record, I believe she is up to the job.

President Bush made a good selection when he asked Governor Whitman to head the EPA. She assumes a tremendous new responsibility, and I look forward to working with her in her new role as Administrator.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. CLELAND:

S. 269. A bill to ensure that immigrant students and their families receive the services the students and families need to successfully participate in elementary schools, secondary schools, and communities in the United States, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

Mr. CLELAND. Mr. President, within the last decade, many States have experienced a wave of immigration that is rivaling the first and second waves of German, Irish, Polish and Scandinavian immigrants who arrived in the U.S. in the late 1800s and early 1900s. In fact, the Census Bureau is estimating that these recently arrived immigrants and refugees will account for 75 percent of the U.S. population growth over the next 50 years. These changing demographics are impacting not just communities accustomed to large immigrant populations like New York, Los Angeles and Miami, but also non-traditional immigrant communities like Gainesville, Georgia and Fremont County, Idaho.

One result of our new wave of immigrants is a significant increase in the number of children with diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds enrolling in our schools. The Waterloo, Iowa school system, for example, is being challenged to teach 400 Bosnian refugee children, who came here without knowing our language, culture or customs. Schools in Wausau, Wisconsin are filled with Asian children who want to achieve success in the United States. In Dalton, Georgia, over 51 percent of the student population in the public schools are Hispanic children eager to participate in their new schools and communities. In Turner, Maine, the school-aged children of hundreds of recently arrived Latino immigrant families are pouring into this rural town's schools.

It is clear that U.S. schools from Florida to Washington State are being increasingly challenged by these changing demographics. We need to make sure that these children are served appropriately—and that their families are as well. Studies have shown that where quality educational programs are joined with community-based services, immigrants have an increased opportunity to become an integral part of their community and their children are better prepared to achieve success in school.

The recent influx of immigrants into U.S. communities calls for innovative and comprehensive solutions. Today I am reintroducing the Immigrants to New Americans Act. This legislation would establish a competitive grant program within the Department of Education to assist schools and communities which are experiencing an influx of recently arrived immigrant families. Specifically, this grant program would provide funding to partnerships of local school districts and community-based organizations for the purpose of developing model programs with a two-fold purpose: to assist culturally and linguistically diverse children achieve success in America's schools and to provide their families with access to comprehensive community services, including health care, child care, job training and transportation.

It does take a village to raise a child, Mr. President.

I have seen firsthand the benefits of one community's program that brings together teachers, community leaders and businesses in an innovative partnership to aid their linguistically and culturally diverse population. It is the Georgia Project, and its mission is to assist immigrant children from Mexico achieve to higher standards in Dalton, Georgia's public schools.

In recent years, the carpet and poultry industries in Dalton and surrounding Whitfield County experienced
